

Morganton company manufactures new type of wallet

A Morganton-based company is making a new wallet recently featured in Fly Rod & Reel Magazine, Penthouse Magazine and American Rifleman Magazine.

Toner Machining Technologies Inc. on East Fleming Drive manufactures the TMT Sports Wallet and TMT Tactical Wallet.

The wallets are designed and built to outlast traditional leather or nylon wallets, said company president Jim Toner.

They are tested in extreme conditions all over the world by people in the military, law enforcement and sportsmen.

They are waterproof and sealed to help protect pictures, credit cards and other items from being destroyed by water, sand, grit, dirt or dust.

Toner makes two models, the TMT-Tactical Wallet and the TMT-Sport Wallet.

Both come with a edge. Both come with a built-in compass, ink pen, tweezers, tooth pick, carbide glass breaker, lanyard clip, reflector, self defense striking edge, two hidden interior compartments for storing medication, fishing flies, iPod, extra cash, spare change or other items.

Both also come with two removable heat treated and polished stainless steel money and credit cards clips that can be sharpened and honed to a knife

The tactical wallet is made from aircraft-grade, solid billet aluminum that is then hard coat anodized for wear, durability and appearance and has added features and self defense striking edges.

The sport wallet is manufactured from Delrin, a space-age type polymer material that is light, durable, scratch resistant and floats in water.
